About the Instructor

Hello! My name is Brendan Klein and I am a tennis enthusiast. Like most people who get into tennis, I grew up watching my parents play and, when old enough, joined them on the court. I quickly fell in love with the challenge of keeping the ball in play and the importance of psychology in the sport. I played competitively in high school for 4 years and now teach at Tennis and Life Camps at Gustavus, consistently rated as a top tennis camp in Minnesota.

My coaching philosophy is that tennis should be fun, first and foremost. If you do not enjoy playing the sport, then you will not perform your best. In addition to fun, I strive to help students understand the theory and strategy of tennis so they can self-coach in matches and, ultimately, be able to coach others, too.
